3.2. LanguageCert USAL esPro Listening and Reading (Computer-based)

The LanguageCert USAL esPro Listening and Reading (Computer-based) test includes a large number of questions, covering all levels of language proficiency (from basic to advanced). Questions appear on the computer's screen and candidates need a keyboard and a mouse to respond. The test's adaptive feature depicts the use of state-of-the-art assessment technology, given the fact that the questions are automatically selected based on the right or wrong responses provided by the candidate. In other words, the questions become progressively easier or more difficult, adapting uniquely to each candidate's skills (i.e. if the candidate gives a wrong answer, an easier question follows; if the candidate gives a correct answer, the next question will be more difficult).

The Computer-based adaptive test offers:

- a shorter in length testing session than the Paper-based version, since a smaller number of questions is needed to determine the candidate's level.
- test lasts ≃60 minutes, while the Paper-based lasts 110 minutes, and evaluates reading and listening skills, knowledge of grammar and vocabulary, as the Paper-based version.

The test includes the following question types:

Overview of Assessment

4.2. Assessment in Paper-based and Computer-based (Adaptive) tests:

All the Speaking and Writing exams of LanguageCert USAL esPro are marked by the certified examiners of Cursos Internaciones de la Universidad de Salamanca. There are courses of criteria unification that are done periodically, in order to ensure the consistency and objectivity (impartiality) of the evaluation, following the CEFR guidelines.

For the Paper-based version, all candidates take the same paper-based test, regardless of their language proficiency.

For the Computer-based version, the questions adapt uniquely to the level of each candidate.

4.3. Understanding scores

The LanguageCert USAL esPro scores are presented on a scale of 0 to100 and are mapped to the Council of Europe's Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR) as follows:

- Test Report, which presents in a clear and easy-to-understand way
  - o the candidate's overall score
  - separate scores for every language skill taken Listening and Reading &Writing and Speaking
  - a summary of "Can Do" statements aligned with the CEFR levels. These are functional/situational statements that describe what a candidate would be expected to do at work place at a specific CEFR level in Spanish.
- Certificate, where the candidate's results corresponding to a level from A1 to C2 are presented, for scores of 10 or above

4.3.1. Calculation of the test score

The overall score of the LanguageCert USAL esPro Listening & Reading test is not simply an average of the individual scores of each test session (Listening, Reading), and it is calculated based on a specific scoring algorithm that identifies the candidate's language competence, as each test section carries a different weight. For example, if the Listening Score is 50 and the Reading Score is 60, the overall score will not necessarily be 55.
